Marwick, Thomas P. & Son 1917 - c. 1941

Thomas P. Marwick & Son [also known as T.P. Marwick & Son] had its origins in an architectural practice established by Thomas Purves Marwick (1854-1927) in Edinburgh in 1879. His son, Thomas Craigie Marwick (1878-1965) became a partner in the practice in 1917 and following the death of his father a decade later, continued to run the practice with the title unchanged for some years. He in turn was joined in partnership by his son, Thomas Waller Marwick (1903-1971) in 1935. The practice eventually closed in the early 1940s

Worked in
UK
Works

Thomas P. Marwick & Son designed several shops for St Cuthbert's Wholesale Co-operative Association in Edinburgh; and pavilions and other buildings for the Glasgow Empire Exhibition at Bellahouston, Glasgow in 1937.

See also Dictionary of Scottish Architects 1660-1980 for a list of architectural projects by Thomas P. Marwick & Son; see also Historic Environment Scotland [links below]

Links
• Dictionary of Scottish Architects 1660-1980
http://www.scottisharchitects.org.uk/architect_full.php?id=201832
• Historic Environment Scotland - contains details of 24 architectural projects by T. P. Marwick and his practice http://portal.historicenvironment.scot/hes/web/f?p=1505%3A200%3A%3A%3ANO%3ARP%