

Ravenor, Geoffrey Paxton 1893 - 1917

Geoffrey Paxton Ravenor was born in Newbury, Berkshire, England on 21 August 1893 and was articled in the Newbury Borough Surveyor's Office. After completing his articles, in 1913 he went to work in the London office of Tubbs, Messer & Poulter, architects and surveyors. His career as an architect was very short-lived. On 3 September 1914, following the outbreak of World War One, he enlisted in the Army and was killed in action whilst serving in France on 30 September [or 2 October - sources differ] 1916.
