

Walker, Carter & Walker 1902 - ?

Walker, Carter & Walker was an architectural partnership formed in Windermere, Westmorland [now Cumbria], England, in 1903 by Robert Walker (1841?-1903), his son, Frank Hugh Walker (1882-1958) and James Carter (c1876-?). Within a week of the formation of the partnership, Walker senior died. Nevertheless the title of the firm was retained and remained unchanged at least until the outbreak of war in 1939. That year both Frank Hugh Walker and Carter were elected Fellows of the Royal Institute of British Architects.
