

Buckland, Herbert Tudor 1869 - 1951

Herbert Tudor Buckland was born in Barmouth, Marionethshire, Wales on 20 November 1869. He abandoned his original intention of becoming a mechanical engineer, and instead decided to train as an architect. He was articled to Henry Clere (1833-1898), an architect and quantity surveyor, in Birmingham, from 1886 to 1890. He also attended Birmingham Municipal School of Art. He then worked as an assistant to John Jones Bateman (1817-1903) and Charles Edward Bateman (1863-1947) of Bateman & Bateman from 1891 to 1893.

Buckland commenced practice as an architect in Birmingham in 1893 and was in partnership with Henry Clere from 1895 to 1897. In c.1898 Buckland formed a short-lived partnership with Charles Edward Bateman as H.T. Buckland & C.E. Bateman. The partnership appears to have been dissolved in 1899 as that year he formed a new partnership with Edward Hayward-Farmer (1871-1917) as Buckland & Farmer [also known as H.T. Buckland & E. Haywood-Farmer and as H.T. Buckland & E. Haywood Farmer] in Birmingham.

Frank Quentery Farmer (1878-1955) seems also to have been a partner in the practice from c.1899 to c.1920 although his name did not appear in the title of the firm. In 1914 William Haywood (1877-1957) joined the practice and following the death of Haywood-Farmer in 1917 the practice was renamed Buckland & Haywood.

In 1901 Buckland was appointed architect to the City of Birmingham Education Committee. He also taught architectural design at Birmingham School of Art. He was elected a Licentiate of the Royal Institute of British Architects (LRIBA) in 1911 and a Fellow of the Royal Institute of British Architects (FRIBA) in 1927. He died in Birmingham, Warwickshire on 18 January 1951.
