

Silcock & Reay 1896 - ?

Silcock & Reay was an architectural partnership formed in Bath, Somerset, England in 1896 by Thomas Ball Silcock (1854-1924) and Samuel Sebastian Reay (c.1867-1933) in 1896

Worked in

UK

Works

Architectural projects by Silcock & Reay included the Technical Institute on Junction Road, Bradford on Avon (1897); Claverton Down Gospel Hall (1898); Newtown Junior School in Trowbridge (1900); and St Peter's and St Mary's Junior School, London Road, Marlborough (1904).

See also Historic England for details of nearly 50 architectural projects by T. B. Silcock and Silcock & Reay; and Lesser-known British Architects [links below]

Links

- Historic England - 17 architectural projects by Silcock & Reay

<https://historicengland.org.uk/sitesearch?searchType=site&search=silcock%20reay&search>

- Bradford on Avon Museum

<http://www.bradfordonavonmuseum.co.uk/archives/5567>

- Lesser-known British Architects <http://britisharchitects.weebly.com/silcock--reay.html>

- archiseek <https://www.archiseek.com/tag/silcock-reay/>

- geograph <https://www.geograph.org.uk/photo/3816735>

- Wikipedia - Sidney Hill Cottage Homes

https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Sidney_Hill_Cottage_Homes