

Salmon (James) & Son 1872 - 1903

James Salmon & Son [also known as J. Salmon & Son] was an architectural partnership formed in Glasgow, Scotland by James Salmon (1805-1888) and his son William Forrest Salmon (1843-1911) in 1872. Following the death of James Salmon in 1888, William Forrest Salmon continued the practice under the same name. In 1898 his son, James Salmon (1873-1924) joined the office, and in November 1903 John Gaff Gillespie (1870-1926) became a partner at which the firm, at which point the practice was renamed Salmon, Son & Gillespie

Worked in

UK

Works

See: Dictionary of Scottish Architects 1660-1980 [link below]

Bibliography

O'Donnell, Raymond. The life and work of James Salmon architect, 1873-1924. Edinburgh: The Rutland Press, 2003

Links

- Dictionary of Scottish Architects 1660-1980
http://www.scottisharchitects.org.uk/architect_full.php?id=201080
- Wikipedia http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/James_Salmon_\(1873-1924\))