

Peto, Harold Ainsworth 1854 - 1933

Harold Ainsworth Peto [also known as Harold Peto] was born in Somerleyton, Suffolk, England on 11 July [or 11 June - sources differ] 1854. After leaving school, he trained as a joiner for about nine months with Lucas Bros., a building firm, and then for about a year in the offices of the architect John Louth Clemence (1822-1911) in Lowestoft, Norfolk, and for about two years with the architects Karslake & Mortimer in London.

Following a study tour of the Continent, in 1876 Peto formed a partnership, Ernest George & Peto, with Ernest George (1854-1933) in London.

After sixteen successful years, in which the practice designed numerous country houses and residences in Kensington and Chelsea, in 1892, for reasons of health, Peto withdrew from the partnership. He subsequently established an equally successful reputation as landscape designer and garden architect. He also received commissions to design interiors and in 1906 he designed the First Class accommodation for the ocean liner RMS Mauretania.

Peto was elected an Associate of the Royal Institute of British Architects (ARIBA) in 1881 and a Fellow of the Royal Institute of British Architects (FRIBA) in 1894. He died at his home, Ilford Manor in Bradford-on-Avon, Wiltshire, on 16 April 1933.
