

Harper, Ewen 1853 - 1920

Ewen Harper was born in Darlaston, Staffordshire, England on 31 May 1853 and was articled to David Smith & Son in Birmingham in 1870. He also attended Birmingham School of Art. In 1872 he was awarded the national Queen's Medal and in 1875 won a South Kensington Art Master's prize, having been a teacher of science and art for some years while studying architecture.

In 1875 he established his own architectural practice at 27 Bennett's Hill, Birmingham. From 1897 he was in partnership with his brother, James Alfred Henry Harper (1866-1952) as Ewen & J. Alfred Harper [also known as Ewen Harper, Brother & Co.] in Birmingham

The Harper brothers were fervent Methodists and in addition to designing a wide range of commercial, industrial, public and domestic buildings, were responsible for designing a large number of non-conformist churches. Most of the practice's work was in the Birmingham area.

In 1907 Ewen Harper was elected a Fellow of the Royal Institute of British Architects (FRIBA). His address was given as Ruskin Chambers, 191, Corporation Street, Birmingham in 1914. On his retirement in 1919 his son, Leonard Ewen Harper (1886-1954), became a partner in the practice. Ewen Harper died in Birmingham on 5 February 1920. The firm continued as Ewen Harper, Brother & Co.

The dissolution of the partnership was announced in The London Gazette, 5 October 1937 p.6177 and it was stated that "Leonard Ewen Harper F.R.I.B.A. will continue to practise for commercial and other work under the old firm name of 'Ewen Harper Brother & Co.' at Ruskin Chambers 191 Corporation Street Birmingham as heretofore, who will shortly take into partnership his Sons Bernard Ivan Harper and Dennis Rosslyn Harper. James Alfred Henry Harper (the Senior Partner in the old firm) and his Son Walter Geoffrey Harper will continue to practice from the 30th September at Union Chambers, Temple Row, Birmingham under the style of 'J. Alfred Harper & Son.'"
