

Campbell, John Archibald 1859 - 1909

John Archibald Campbell was born in Anderston, Glasgow, Scotland on 26 January 1859 and was articled to John Burnet senior (1814-1901) in Glasgow from 1877 to 1880. He then attended the Atelier Pascal at Ecole des Beaux-Arts in Paris from 1880 to 1883 following which he returned to Burnet's office. In 1885 he won the Tite Prize and in 1886 was taken into partnership in Burnet's practice as Burnet, Son & Campbell. The partnership was dissolved in 1897. Campbell then practised alone until 1908 when he formed a partnership with his chief assistant, Alexander David Hislop (1876-1966) as Campbell & Hislop. The partnership was short-lived as Campbell died the following year.

Campbell was elected a Fellow of the Royal Institute of British Architects (FRIBA) in 1906. He died in Edinburgh on 19 July 1909. Hislop continued the practice under the same name as sole practitioner until 1924

NOTE: this architect is sometimes confused with another British architect also called John Archibald Campbell (1878-1947)
