

Newton & Bayley 1896 - 1915

Newton & Bayley [also known as Newton, Son & Bayley] originated as civil engineering firm established by John Newton (1830-1896) in Manchester in the mid-nineteenth century. In 1883 he formed a partnership with his son, Charles Edward Newton (1859-1937) as John Newton & Son. In c.1895. George Herbert Bayley joined the firm in c.1895.

Following the death of Newton senior in 1896, the firm became Newton & Bayley. Initially the practice focused on civil engineering projects but by the 1900s had begun working on architectural commissions designing a number of country houses in Cheshire and Oxfordshire. "Watling Gate" a house in Timperley, near Manchester designed by them is briefly discussed and illustrated in 'The Studio' March 1910 pp.135, 136. The partnership was dissolved in 1915.

Worked in

UK

Links

- Architects of Greater Manchester 1800-1940

<https://manchestervictorianarchitects.org.uk/index.php/partnerships/newton-john-son-and-bayley>

- Architects of Greater Manchester 1800-1940

<https://manchestervictorianarchitects.org.uk/index.php/architects/charles-edward-newton>