

Parker, Alfred Gwynne 1880 - 1944

Alfred Gwynne Parker was born in Worcester, Worcestershire in 1880 and was the son of the architect Alfred Hill Parker (1851-1929) with whom he may have received his training. Some time before 1913 he formed a partnership with his father as Parker Hill & Son [also known as A. Parker Hill & Son]. The practice had an office at The Avenue, Cross, Worcester, Worcestershire. A design for a house by A. G. Parker was submitted in The "Daily Mail" Ideal Houses Competition for Architects in 1927

Alfred Gwynne Parker died on 26 June 1944. His address at the time of his death was given as Beckett Lodge, 9 Beckett Road, Worcester, Worcestershire.

Worked in
UK