

Chatwin, Julius Alfred 1830 - 1907

Julius Alfred Chatwin was born in Birmingham, England on 27 April 1830. After leaving school in c.1846 he was employed as a draughtsman by the construction company Branson & Gwyther in Birmingham for five years. He then moved to London where he was articled to Sir Charles Barry (1795-1860) from 1851 to 1855. During his time with Barry, he attended classes at the first Schools of Design at Somerset House, London.

After completing his articles Chatwin returned to Birmingham where he commenced independent practice as an architect in 1855. From 1897 he was in partnership with his son, Philip Boughton Chatwin (1873-1964) in the Birmingham-based architectural firm J. A. Chatwin & Son.

From 1866 he was architect to the Governors of King Edward's School. He was also Architect to St. Mary's Church in Warwick from 1891.

In 1863 Chatwin was elected a Fellow of the Royal Institute of British Architects (FRIBA); he was also a Fellow of the Society of Antiquaries of Scotland (FSA Scot), and an Associate of the Royal British Society of Sculptors (ARBS). From 1883 to 1902 he was President of the Royal Birmingham Society of Artists. He died at his home in Edgbaston on 6 June 1907.
