

Martin, Frederick William 1859 - 1917

Frederick William Martin was born in Birmingham, Warwickshire, England on 10 November 1859 and was the son of William Hippisley Martin (1828-1900), an architect and surveyor with whom he may have received his training as an architect. He also studied at the University of London. Details of his early architectural career are unclear. By the early 1880s he had returned to Birmingham and in the 1881 England and Wales Census gave as his occupation, Architect.

His father was in partnership with John Henry Chamberlain (1831-1883) as Martin & Chamberlain from 1864 to 1883, and, following latter's death, Frederick William Martin became a partner in the practice. His younger brother, Herbert Martin (1864-1946) later also joined the firm. The practice retained the title Martin & Chamberlain until 1901, however, following the death of William Martin it was renamed Martin & Martin.

Frederick William Martin was elected a Licentiate of the Royal Institute of British Architects (LRIBA). He was also an active member of the Birmingham Architectural Association. His address was given as 106 Colmore Row, Birmingham in 1911 and 1917. He died at his home, Abbey Cottage, Abbey Road, Harborne, Staffordshire on 7 July 1917.

After Frederick William Martin's death in 1917, his son, Cyril Frederick Martin (1888-?) joined his uncle, Herbert Martin, as a partner, together with William Henry Ward (1878-?)
