

Leiper, William 1839 - 1916

William Leiper was born in Glasgow, Scotland on 21 May 1839 and trained as an architect with James Boucher (1826-1906) and James Cousland (c1833-1866) of Boucher & Cousland in Glasgow from c.1855 to c.1859. He then worked as an assistant to John Loughborough Pearson (1817-1897) and to William Henry White (1838-1896) in London until c.1861; to Andrew Heiton (1823-1894) in Perth in 1862-63; and to Campbell Douglas (1828-1910) and John James Stevenson (1831-1908) of Campbell Douglas & Stevenson in Glasgow in 1863-64.

Leiper commenced practice as an architect in Glasgow in 1864 and was in partnership with Robert Grieve Melvin (c.1839-1879) from 1864 to c.1867. In c.1899 he formed a brief partnership with William James Anderson specifically for the commission to design the interiors of the SS Regele Carol I for the Romanian Government. In c.1899 he formed a longer-lasting partnership, Leiper & McNab, in Glasgow with William Hunter McNab (1862-1935). Because of ill health Leiper was forced to retire from the partnership in 1909, however, McNab continued to run the firm with the name unchanged for at least a decade.

In addition to his work as an architect, Leiper was also a watercolourist and keen photographer. He exhibited at the Glasgow Institute of the Fine Arts; the Royal Academy in London; and at the Royal Scottish Society of Painters in Water Colours, and the Royal Scottish Academy in Edinburgh. He was elected an Associate of the Royal Scottish Academy (ARA) in 1892 and a full member of the Royal Scottish Academy (RSA) in 1898. He was also elected a Fellow of the Royal Institute of British Architects (FRIBA) in 1881.

Throughout his career Leiper lived and worked in Glasgow. He died in Helensburgh, Scotland on 27 May 1916.
