

Mould. J.D. & S.J. c. 1897 - 1900

J.D. & S.J. Mould was an architectural partnership formed in London, England in c.1897 by James Diggle Mould (1857-1935) and his brother Samuel Joseph Mould (1869-1923). The address of their office was given as 58 Queen Victoria Street, London in 1897. They appear also to have had an office in the Greater Manchester area, possibly in Bury, Lancashire, as a number of their commissions were in or around Bury.

In 1900 they were joined by Austin Porritt (1875-1939) and the practice was renamed Moulds & Porritt. The partnership was dissolved in 1907.

Worked in

UK

Links

- Architects of Greater Manchester 1800-1940

<https://manchestervictorianarchitects.org.uk/partnerships/mould-j-d-and-s-j>

- Historic England - Former Union Bank of Manchester

<https://historicengland.org.uk/listing/the-list/list-entry/1472844>